

English

Figures of Speech

1. Simile: a comparison between two things using the word “like” or “as”
2. Hyperbole: uses exaggeration for emphasis or effect
3. Metaphor: a comparison between two things that aren't alike but do have something in common
4. Personification: giving human qualities to objects, animals, or abstract notions
5. Onomatopoeia: a word that sounds like what it is describing
6. Assonance: the repetition of the sound of a vowel or diphthong in nonrhyming stressed syllables near enough to each other for the echo to be discernible
7. Alliteration: the occurrence of the same letter or sound at the beginning of adjacent or closely connected words.

Types of Sentences

1. Declarative: makes a statement or expresses an opinion
2. Interrogative: asks a question to obtain information
3. Imperative: issues a command, instruction, or request
4. Exclamatory: conveys strong emotion or excitement

Types of Words

1. Noun: used to name people, places, ideas, or things
2. Verb: used to express action or a state of being
3. Adjective: used to describe or modify nouns
4. Conjunction: used to connect words, phrases, or clauses
5. Adverb: a word or phrase that modifies another word or phrase to provide more detail or limit the meaning
6. Preposition: governing, and usually preceding, a noun or pronoun and expressing a relation to another word or element in the clause
7. Pronoun: a word that replaces a noun in a sentence. Pronouns are used to avoid repeating the same noun, and can also be used to refer to oneself, address others, ask questions, and make generalizations.

Types of Poems

1. Haiku: a short, unrhymed Japanese poem that is typically made up of three lines with five syllables in the first line, seven in the second, and five in the third
2. Free verse: poetry that does not rhyme or have a regular meter
3. Limerick: a type of poem where the first, second, and fifth lines have the same rhyme and rhythm. The third and fourth lines will rhyme too.
4. Rhymed: poetry that contains rhyming vowel sounds at particular moments

Parts of Poems

1. Rhyme: Repeated sounds in two or more words. Usually, rhyming sounds are at the ends of words, but this is not always the case. A poem's rhyme scheme is the pattern its rhymes follow.
2. Meter: A poem's meter is its rhythmic structure. The number of syllables in a line and their emphasis compose a poem's meter.
3. Form: The overall structure of a poem is known as its form. A poem's form can determine its meter and rhyme scheme.
4. Stanza: A stanza is a section of a poem. Think of it like a verse in a song or a paragraph in an essay. Stanzas compose a poem's form. In a poem, the stanzas can all fit the same meter, or they can vary.